Customer Reviews

Borch, a cartographic publishing company from Germany, makes tough, long-lasting multi-lingual maps with non-toxic, environmentally responsible lamination material.

This map of the subways and streets came in so handy for our trip to St Petersburg. The lamination protected the map superbly and you will need to protect the map because it could rain anytime in Russia.

I've never been less than very satisfied with maps from this company. Detailed and durable. Don't leave home without it.

Will put to good use in September. Using now to get our bearings.

Even though this map claims to be a recent edition it still uses the old names for many of the streets. As you can imagine this causes problems when trying to find places.

Good

Covers what it needs to cover inside the city, sturdy, easy to read, and a good asset to people who want to see where they are going inside St Petersburg.

It rained my entire week in Petersburg. I couldn't have gotten around without this map. Covered all the essential sights.

Excellent map of the central city, a bit sketchy regionally.....
