Paul Pook has worked in high-performance rugby for more than 15 years. A former professional player, Paul was Ireland’s national fitness coach and part of Ireland’s Grand Slam-winning coaching team. More recently, Paul was appointed head of conditioning for the Russia Rugby Union and prepared the national team for the 2011 Rugby World Cup in New Zealand. Paul has a special interest in workload management and player longevity. He recently presented at the RBS Six Nations conference in Venice on the subjects of GPS and optimising player workload and shortly afterward presented at the Italian Olympic Federation in Rome on the subject of athlete longevity. He is currently researching the application of an interactive web portal for optimising performance and preventing injury. Paul has also founded a unique residential high-performance centre in Southwest France. Catering to ambitious players and coaches, the centre contains the very latest strength and conditioning equipment, which will ensure both individuals and teams achieve their optimal fitness in order to compete at the highest level of sport.

This is a great book. The DVD that came with it is in PAL format so without a compatible player.... My fault. I did not realize this when I ordered the book. so I can only give it 4 out of 5 stars.

A strong must have book for any aspiring coach and players out there trying to take rugby practice and competition to the next level everything is well written and organized for any level of rugby.

Great book on understanding and training rugby!!!!

I am a professional coach and I bought this as a Xmas present for myself. I couldn't have chosen better

I coach a rugby 7's team & I am always looking for new ideas & methods to keep my players fresh & fit. This book gives an excellent overview of the 'how & why' of fitness specific for the game of rugby. What really made it worthwhile for me was the DVD. The visuals really help to give one an understanding of what the author must believe are the key exercises. Some of the exercises require equipment ( weights et cetera as well as more specialised stuff ) but even if you do not access to this there are ample ideas & systems to ensure that your players achieve the desired fitness levels.
