Customer Reviews

This is a book for the methods of leather working at the turn of the century. Paul Noonan wrote a lot of books about all handwork topics at the level of Popular Mechanics and had a newsletter about the same subjects. But the person who scanned it in and created this product was clearly from overseas, as they have confused the Library of Congress (wrong listing as publisher) listing of the book with the actual publisher (omitted). Small minimal diagrams and minimal text.
